

Love Builds Bravery.

More than a picture book. A framework for helping children grow in courage and confidence.

The Hank Effect

Love builds bravery.

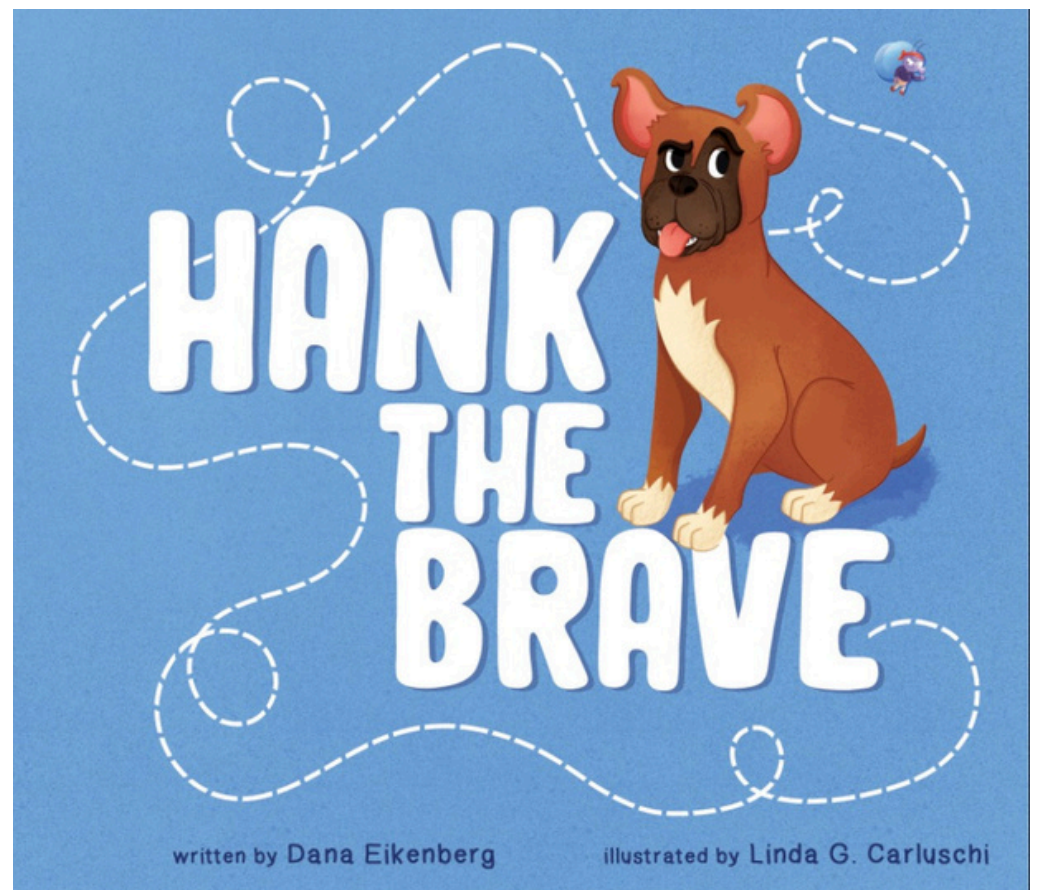

When children feel loved, they're more willing to take brave steps.

The Language of Brave

The words we speak today become the voice children carry tomorrow.

Every conversation is an opportunity to help a child believe:

"I don't have to be fearless to be brave."

Ideal For:

- Social-Emotional Learning (SEL)
- Read-Alouds • Morning Meetings
- Counseling Groups • Character Education • Classroom Libraries

Dana Eikenberg is an author, former coach, and speaker who helps educators create classrooms where children feel safe enough to take brave steps.

Every classroom has a child who needs to hear... “You don’t have to be fearless to be brave.”

Because...

- ✓ Love builds bravery.
- ✓ Brave words become brave voices.
- ✓ Every child deserves someone who believes in them.
